

November Is Home Health Care and Hospice Month!

As Texans consider all the things they're thankful for this Thanksgiving, we at Reliant Home Health are thankful for all the wonderful people we get to help on a daily basis. And it seems that the state of Texas is thankful for us as well, because Governor Rick Perry has proclaimed November Home Health Care and Hospice Month.

To quote from the Governor's proclamation: "Many Texans elect to receive their medical care through home care and hospice. These services offer assistance with daily activities and provide professional medical care to disabled, chronically ill and elderly individuals. [...] I encourage all Texans to learn more about the home care and hospice professionals and to recognize the invaluable contributions of all Texas health care providers."

We're proud to participate in Home Health Care and Hospice Month by continuing to give Texans the care and support they need and deserve. This would be the perfect time for you to learn more about these services. Get the facts direct from the source -- contact us!
